“When we look for evidence of deeper learning in schools, we look for well-designed systems, an attention to the individual needs of children, and a school culture where empathy and compassion are nested in every aspect of the school. Our schools have achieved these important elements because of AVID. Our AVID system makes it more predictable that children will be ready for college, careers, and life! Our AVID culture prioritizes the individual child while also ensuring every child involved in the system belongs to a community of support and care. AVID is the formula for deeper learning and higher achievement!”
